Board Reinstates County Agent Office

SUPERVISORS VOTE TO RETAIN OFFICE OF COUNTY AGENT

VOTE OF 37 TO 6 IS BIG SURPRISE OF APRIL BOARD MEETING.

F E W ARGUMENTS

Farm Bureau Pleas for Retention—No Talks Against Office.

Rock county will have a county agriculture agent for at least two more years.

The resolution re-establishing the office and providing an appropriation of $2,000 to pay the county's share toward the office passed with flying colors during the close of the county board session Wednesday afternoon.

The resolution of Supervisor W. J. Lathers passed with 37 yeas for the office, against 6 nays. A negative vote was cast by Supervisors W. L. Campbell, Milton Village, George W. Joly, Dighton, Frank Minch, La Prairie, John A. Paul, Milton and C. E. Wikstrom, Farmington. The three absent members were B. D. Treadway, John Tullar and Frank Van Wart.

The big majority was a surprise. There was no argument among the supervisors either. Evidently their minds were made up on which way they would vote—and they voted that way. Several supervisors changed their vote from that recorded at the session of the old board when a decided majority vote abolished the office. Supervisors from Janesville and Beloit all voted for the office and those who did vote "no" voiced their vote with such a vocal emphasis that made it clear that they felt that way about it.

They left no doubt that they were to be the "five words" of the session Wednesday. However the record didn't go up very far or explode with much demonstration in the back of the office. The issue was solely on the retention of the office and it was made clear that whether the present county agent R. T. Glasco, satisfied.

HIGH U. W. FEE BILL IS KILLED BY ASSEMBLY VOTE

Madison—The assembly Thursday morning decisively records itself as opposed to the move to set up barriers against admission of an except wealthy out of state students to the University of Wisconsin.

The house killed the Perry bill to increase tuition of non-resident students to $500. They had previously killed an amendment on a vote of 80 to 12 which would have placed the charge at $300.

Practically the entire lower house was lined up against the Perry proposition which had been reported for passage from the state affairs committee. When an amendment was offered by Assemblyman Goodman calling for a tuition of $300 for all students from foreign countries it went down to defeat by acclamation.

BUILDERS CLASH WITH NEWCOMERS

Madison—Madison's building trade labor difficulties were marked Tuesday night by a clash between union workers and Russell Agency detectives, who are said to be in the city to import labor for the North.

The union men received word that the 9 o'clock train from Milwaukee was bringing a number of non-union workers and that the laborers would meet the train at the city. A three-for-all fight followed which lasted about 15 minutes. No one was seriously injured and no arrests were made.

Confirmation of Webster Again Stalled Off in Senate

Madison—Confirmation of Branton Webster as a member of the conservation commission, which was twice rejected by the senate, was staved off again Thursday morning by the upper house. This time confirmation was held in abeyance to take that which now provides that not more than two members of the commission shall be of the same political party, according to decision of the senators.

JEWELL PROTESTS SUPERVISORS PUT RAIL WAGE CUT ON HIGHER SPEED

Head of Unions Carries on Fight to Retain Present Schedules.

ChicAGO—Reductions of railroad wages would impair the standard of American living and would have no justification in "ethics, economics, or present day industrial life," Mr. Jewell, head of the railway unions, who opened the employees' fight to retain present wage scales, declared before the railroad labor board Thursday.

Contentions of railroads that the cost of living had declined since the wage award of July, 1920, were met with the reply that the award was based on the prices of December, 1919 and not on those of July, 1920, the peak of high prices. Mr. Jewell declared it would require three years for railroad employees at their present wages to recuperate the losses sustained during the war period by the failure of their earnings to keep pace with the increased cost of living.

GREEN BAY TO USE OWN DEPUTIES TO KEEP ORDER AT MILL

Green Bay, Wis.—All services of outside operatives employed at the Northern Paper mills, whose employees are on a strike in protest against a 20 per cent wage reduction, will be handled by the city's own police, according to a conference between Carl F. Young, district attorney, the mayor, chief of police, Sheriff S. M. Ryan, the strike committee and C. E. Sample, national organizer of the Pulp Workers association.

It is estimated that about 30 local men will be sworn in as special deputies to take the place of out of the city men who were requested to leave town Wednesday night. The sheriff's office and the police will also afford protection to mill employees.

District Attorney Young stated that all criminal cases pending against strikers for violation of the injunction granted the mill will be dismissed.

The plan to keep order at the mill with local deputies met with instant approval from mill officials and the union officials, it was said.

GERMAN TERMS UNACCEPTABLE SAY ALLIED PREMIERS

FOREIGN ENVOYS CONSULT WITH SECRETARY HUGHES.

TO REJECT OFFER

Lloyd George Says Britain Is Committed to Act in Coal Fields.

[By Associated Press.]

Washington—Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador from Great Britain, conferred with Secretary Hughes Thursday. The Belgian ambassador, Baron de Marchaine, arrived at the department before Sir Auckland. They were the first of the allied envoys to see Mr. Hughes since he laid the new German reparations proposals before them informally last Tuesday.

It was understood that Prince de Chigi, counselor of the French embassy, had an engagement to see Mr. Hughes during the day. He was to act for Ambassador Jusserand, who is absent from Washington, and was expected to communicate the decision of his government that the German offer was unacceptable.

BRITISH DECLARE TERMS ARE UNACCEPTABLE

London—The prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, declared in the House of Commons Thursday that the British government was committed to action, so far as the West German coal fields were concerned, in the German reparations proposals were unsatisfactory.

Lloyd George continued: "It is very much regretted to say that they are thoroughly unsatisfactory and I wish it had been possible for me to say that they alter the situation."

More Confusion Results.

Germany's attempt to clarify certain of her reparations proposals, in compliance with the request of the allied powers, which it is said, resulted in even greater confusion. Great Britain has asked for further explanations and the interchanges are continuing.

STREET FLUSHER BUMPS BUILDING ON RUNAWAY DASH

JanESVILLE's big street flusher went on a rampage Wednesday morning, crashing into the east side of the Woods apartment building, corner of Court and South bluff streets. The only damage to the building was a broken window in the basement. A while minor damage was done to the nozzles and other parts on the front of the machine.

The runaway started when the flusher failed to hold the curb while it was being filled from a Court street hydrant. The driver, E. L. Badger, being on the opposite side of the steering apparatus was unable to get it under control and it went over the curb and struck the building.

"In the future," said Mr. Badger, "I will be more careful. I am going to fill the tank only on the level. The brakes are not strong enough to hold it on a hill."

COUNTY PROTESTS BILL TO ABOLISH TOWN ASSESSORS

SUPERVISORS URGE DEFEAT OF MEASURE BEFORE LEGISLATURE.

FEELING STRONG

Only Two Favor Single Assessor Plan—University Is Scored.

Balking at any suggestion of giving the state even a finger hold on tax assessments within the county, the Rock county board meeting Thursday took a severe line on the policy of state restrictions to encroach upon county jurisdiction and authority.

The indictment of university rule, state machine expenses and central administration was made by the county board and municipal local governments came up on a resolution against the proposed state law to abolish the office of all township assessors.

"Rock county has brains enough to run its own business," declared Supervisor Simon Smith, Beloit, who brought the resolution before the meeting. "Under the terms of the resolution the county board went on record as favoring the defeat of the bill and urged the county's legislators to work to that end."

"Creation of a county assessor, who would be able to appoint as many and whom he pleased, is just another means of creating a powerful political machine, similar to that of the present township assessors. The county board should balk at the state count. We have just as good men on the county board as they have in the legislature and if you don't believe it, change back to the old system and take a look at them."

Supported by Richardson, the resolution urged that the bill should be defeated. The county board should use "all influences" for the defeat of the measure. Supervisor M. C. Richardson, Janesville, came out strong as the champion of the measure, which would abolish township assessors and have the county assessor system or retain their local assessors.

"It would be a good thing to have just one assessor, to centralize the assessments under one qualified and competent man," claimed the Janesville supervisor. "The tax assessment system is the worst sort of a mess. It is like a house of cards. It is the hardest to make fair. With a county assessor the county would be a unit and all assessments be made on the same basis."

Resolution Passes.

"Assessing by small units means that you cannot get men working on a basis of merit. It is the most important work in the county. Years ago we had the ward system of assessments in the city. It was brought under one man, who was really competent to do the most important work in the county. Years ago we had the ward system of assessments in the city. Passes Resolution Calling on President to Recognize Independence.

[By Associated Press.]

Madison—Irish independence was endorsed by the Wisconsin senate Thursday morning when it passed a resolution by a vote of 23 to 5, calling on the president "by proclamation or in such other manner as may be proper, to formally recognize the Irish Republic, as a free and independent nation."

A substitute to the Huber resolution was offered by Senator Burke, which would express the legislature's "entire confidence that the president will formally recognize the Irish Republic as soon as a just regard for the rules of international law and our policy will permit."

This was killed at a tie vote of 14 to 14 which was broken by the president's ballot. Roll call follows:

DAHL BILL RAISING TAX ON INCOMES IS ACCEPTED IN HOUSE

MAJOR REVENUE MEASURE IS SENT TO EN-GROSSMENT.

INCREASES RATES

Wealthy to Stand Burden of State Under Administration Proposal.

[By Associated Press.]

Madison—The assembly on a vote of 54 to 38 sent the Dahl bill, providing for alterations in the state income tax law, increasing the revenue from $6,000,000 to $17,000,000 annually, engrossment Thursday afternoon. A finance committee without action was defeated 52 to 33.

When opponents of the measure saw that they were defeated they agreed to raise a call of the house that clamped on to bring in absentees. They will now concentrate their force on defeating the bill when it comes up for final passage, following a hearing before the finance committee. Reconsideration of the vote of 54 to 38 by which the measure was passed was moved by Assemblyman Pierson.

CITY-UTILITY CO-OP PLAN IS PROVIDED

Arnold Bill Affecting Municipalities Reported for Passage.

Madison. — Cooperation of the municipality and the public utility corporations to solve problems arising over operation of the utilities is provided for in the Arnold bill, reported from the senate committee Thursday morning for passage. The measure originally drawn to affect Milwaukee alone was amended to include cities of both the first and second class. The bill provides that cities may enter into contracts with the owner of any recognized public utility, for the leasing, public operation or joint operation of any part of the utility by the city. Provisions would be required before any contract entered into by the city would be binding. Favorable report was made on the Nye bill providing that municipalities already owning public utilities must set up a sinking fund to retire the bonded indebtedness of the utility.

Location of the soldier memorial hospital provided for in the Huber bill will be determined by a committee of five composed of the governor, a member of the board of control, if the amendment offered through the finance committee is accepted by the legislature. The original plan called for location of the hospital which is practically situated at Government Island, the shores of Lake Mendota at Madison. The state affairs committee sent out the request of W. B. Barber, chairman of the conservation commission, that a legislative investigation be made of charges of graft and bribery against him and Commissioner Nevin, in the form of a communication.

WOMEN COMPLAIN OF "OPEN" SALOON

Milwaukee. — Blatant complaints against a saloon in the downtown district have been sent to Mrs. Clinton M. Barr, president of the Federation of Church Women, and nearly all of them are from women who complain that drinks are being sold to their husbands and sons. The building in which this saloon is housed, Mrs. Barr said, is owned by a man serving on the federal grand jury. Charges that saloons near the soldiers' home are selling liquor to crippled war veterans were made in a report to the federation by Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, president of the Milwaukee chapter of American War Mothers.

Husband and Wife Show Team Work, Cause Arrest

Milwaukee. — Team work between husband and wife today trapped a man in the grocery store of Joseph Davis, and led to his arrest as the suspect in a clever currency raising scheme. Stephen Danzack, 21, Chicago, stepped into the grocery, purchasing some tobacco and tendered Mr. Davis a $10 bill. The grocer's fingers told him that something was wrong with the bill. He called to his wife to take it next door and get it changed as he was all out of small money. Instead of leaving the bill in her palm, he only squeezed her hand. She walked out of the store went next door and called the police. Danzack was turned over to federal authorities.

County Board Sidelights

Simon Smith was given a cheer during a bit of reprieve when the county agent vote was before the board. Mr. C. W. Merriman, Beloit, arose and wanted the county supervisors to vote first in order that the city supervisors could determine the attitude of the farmers. "I don't have to know what the farmers think about it," shouted Supervisor Smith. "I would vote for the county agent if every farmer member here voted against it. I know right now how I want to vote."

Gleason and Penick. Chairman J. D. McGowan supplied cigars for the board members, this being the annual "shakedown" from the new chairman. County Clerk H. W. Lee passed around brand new pencils but the most of the supervisors put them in their outside coat pockets, where they remained.

Edgerton Road Plan. The passage of the resolution for the completion of the Edgerton road this year was hailed with delight. The resolution put up by W. S. Ferriman, Beloit, and passed by George W. Dyer, Edgerton, will mean a big step ahead for the county in its concrete road building program. No sooner has it been passed than a vote, than the old squabble became apparent. When it comes time for the highway committee and the board to decide which road is next, there is going to be a money fight. The Edgerton road has a very bad club out that the road from Jansville through Evansville to Danc county be next in line and southern supervisors around Beloit also Anderson, Jansville, inform the board of the building of the Beloit Clinton road. The show-down will be which side can control the most votes for it is an open and shut question the decision depending on votes.

Limit Road Traffic. On motion of Supervisor John A. Paul, the county board passed a resolution authorizing the legislators from Rock county to secure the passage of state laws to restrict the use of highways, preventing heavy trucks from running the roads.

Settle Road Costs. The bridge which will have to be built at Indian Ford is a matter for the 1922 county board to handle. The road will be built up to the banks where the new bridge is to be located as the result of the resolution passed Wednesday.

In event the highway committee decided to have the upper stretch done by contract, the county will be able to compare the costs by day labor under the highway commissioners and that done by contractors. It is probable the upper stretch will be built from Edgerton south to the river near Indian Ford.

Needed Alarm Clock. One of the supervisors apparently went into dreamland Wednesday afternoon. A roll-call was made for a vote of "yes" or "no." Twice this supervisor answered "here," instead of "aye." He occupied a corner seat where he could tip his head back and rest in peace.

Names County Agent. Appointment of a county agent is now up to the county agriculture committee. J. K. Hatch, Madison, supervisor of county agents for this

COUNTY MAY HIRE TWO SPEED COPS

Favorable Action Predicted on Safeguard Measures for Beloit Road.

Patrolling of the Jansville-Beloit concrete highway by deputized motor traffic cops is expected as the result of conferences held during the Rock county board meeting Thursday. Under the plan proposed a Beloit patrolman will be responsible for patrolling the road from Beloit to the Town Line bridge and the Jansville department from this city to that road intersection. Each patrolman would have about six miles to cover.

The Jansville club committee met during the day with the special committee of the county board, composed of Supervisors W. S. Ferriman, Beloit; J. A. Markham, Jansville, and C. H. Christensen, Beloit. Controlling of the entire road by one deputy to be paid by the receipts from fines and fees was frowned upon by the board as not being as effective as having a deputy sheriff attempt to stop the speeding and traffic violations, working out of Jansville and Beloit.

$10,000 Loss in Fire at Delavan

Delavan. — Fire, which is believed to have been started by a cigarette stub, was the cause of $10,000 damage to the Charles Quinn garage here at 1 o'clock Tuesday night. The interior of the building is a total loss. Five new cars, three sedans, a touring car and a roadster were totally destroyed.

MOVIE CENSORSHIP FAILS TO INTEREST SENATE COMMITTEE

Madison. — Moving picture censorship failed to interest members of the senate state affairs committee, which considered the Bennett bill providing for a board of reviewers charged with the control of exhibition of all pictures shown in the state. They postponed the measure out unanimously for indefinite postponement, Thursday morning.

Committee members in commenting on their decision Wednesday night declared that there was too much censorship at present without adding a board whose only function would be to censorize. The Jansville Federation of Women's clubs appeared as the only proponent of Senator J. Henry Bennett's measure that would provide a board of three persons, one a woman, to pass on all pictures to be shown in the theaters of Wisconsin.

"We are in favor of putting in jail any exhibitor who shows an immoral or obscene picture," declared Joseph C. Thode, Kenosha, representing the Wisconsin Exhibitors' association, in pointing to the position of the Wisconsin organization on better pictures. "We are in accord with every desire to furnish clean pictures, but we cannot succeed in doing it under censorship," he said.

Censorship is a matter of opinion and not of law, the opponents of the measure declared. Lack of faith in a body of three persons to judge what the mass should see was expressed freely.

Would Legislate Price of Balcony Movie Seats. Madison. — Motion picture fans will no longer be required to pay full admission price for seats in the gallery or balcony if Assemblyman Meisinger's bill, which was passed in the lower house Wednesday morning, is carried up to final passage. Theaters must not charge more than 75 per cent of the first floor admission price for tickets for the first balcony, 62½ per cent for tickets for the second balcony, nor 50 per cent for tickets to the third balcony or "general pit," the bill provides. Many theaters are the good seats, according to Mr. Meisinger, while those who are late are sent from floor to floor, and finally may be inferior seats. Yet they paid the full admission charge.

POSTPONE ACTION ON SANATORIUM

County Board Committee to Inspect Sites and Report Back in August.

Hopes for a county tuberculosis sanatorium can be said to have a gasp during the Thursday session of the county board. Now if the plans can survive a gauntlet of district prejudices, committee red-tape and difference of opinion among the supervisors, Rock county "may" have a sanatorium—something the special committees of Supervisors George Woodruff, Janesville; Simon Smith, Beloit; W. W. Dalton, Clinton; and Dr. C. M. Smith, Janesville, are to act on. The building committee is to select a site and report back to the county board at the meeting in August.

Beloit physicians have filed a petition with the committee handling the sanatorium matter to locate the institution along the Beloit-Janesville highway. Some of the district of the county rather than at Janesville, near the county farm.

"We are going ahead with it and we hope to accomplish something," declared Supervisor Woodruff after the morning meeting. The county really needs and should have such a hospital. I hope we can bring a concrete report quick to the board which will assure the building of a good hospital for all people within the county."

"The county has been dodging the issue of a sanatorium long enough," said W. S. Perrigo, Beloit. "The name of Dr. C. M. Smith, Janesville, was added to the special committee Thursday."

Need for Veterans. "Veterans sent home to the nearest place," declared Dr. Gust Stricker, Beloit, commander of the American Legion post, during an appeal for a tuberculosis institution in Rock county.

"The big thing in the treatment of tuberculosis is the instilling of the fighting spirit in a patient," declared Commander Stricker. "The sanatorium near the homes of the boys, so their relatives and friends can help them battle against the disease, is the best place to place them. The sanatorium hospital where they may get the best of treatment. But they are among strangers. They have no word to aid without a friendly face and I would like to see the county build one to save the nation's honor and I would like to see the majority of good citizens would do the same," continued Dr. Stricker.

County Nurse Speaks. The county board was urged to take action to supply materials to the county hospital. The county would cooperate in the building of barracks where tuberculosis patients could be treated in the county.

"I will guarantee the county to do the work in the future," urged the Beloit physician. "It will not cost much but the results will be a satisfaction to the county."

BIRD CONTEST NEARS ITS CLOSE; ENDS SATURDAY

It is only two days more before the bird contest closes and many carrels with colored birds have come to the Gazette in the last few days. Some of the little folks have apparently misunderstood about it.

The bird pictures to comply with the terms set down, must be mounted on cards and painted. One little girl has sent us the slips telling what color the birds are. We are sorry she did not know the rules.

But generally the boys and girls have done well and made few mistakes.

We will have the cards looked over in the first week in May and announce the result in about two weeks.

All cards must be in or mailed on Saturday, April 30.

Farmers Plan to Buy Threshing Coal Wholesale

Newark Farm Bureau members meeting Wednesday started a movement for organizing to obtain credit from the farm loan associations. The matter was brought up by County Agent R. T. Glasco and will form the subject of the next meeting to be held by the Bureau.

County Agent Glasco spoke on the success and defects of the system of shipping livestock through the associations. A total of 55 cars of stock have been shipped from Newark district since last August.

C. E. Culver, secretary of the Farm Bureau, advised the farmers that coal dealers should be requested to come down and haul their own coal. By bringing in threshing coal in carload lots and to be hauled from the car at sidings, the bureau can save a considerable material amount.

County Agent Glasco spoke on the importance of limiting. Roy Cole, Beloit, will operate one of the threshers and aid the Newark district in the near future. Some distance away from a railroad station, to obtain pulverized lime. There were 70 attending the Newark meeting.

Farm Bureau meetings are to be held in Lincoln, Plymouth, Wisconsin and Center Thursday night. Hugh C. Hemmingsway, Farm Bureau President and County Agent Glasco will speak at the Hancock meeting and Secretary Culver at Center.

TREE PLANTING FOR SOLDIERS.

The columns of men who went into the Argonne or St. Mihiel or swept the Prussian Guard out of the Alsace-Marne salient, were not usually in regular line formation. The individuality of the American soldier made dress parade in the fighting front out of the question. But in camp it was different. No man could see the mass of troops, strong men and the flower of American youth in great lines of khaki, without a thrill that comes from looking at so great a fighting machine. It seemed incomprehensible that many thousands of these men should be left dead on the field. Typical therefore of this great army is a sturdy tree. What better memorial can there be, than great avenues of trees stretched along the splendid highways of the country.
There is a petition before the county board from the men of the American Legion that here in Rock county our roads shall be bordered with trees as a memorial for the men living and dead, who fought or served in the Great War. The Gazette has advocated the planting of trees for this reason and for two others, one the beauty of the roads and the third for the head we have of more shade and more trees as a regulator of weather. In these famine stricken sections of China there was a time when trees grew thickly but they have been cut off and rain and flood and drought have followed year after year as a result. Trees are a climate necessity and here is an opportunity for the county to make this triple addition to the beauty of our section of the state with avenues of trees, establish a perpetual memorial to the men of the war, and to conserve nature's preventive of famine and crop failure.

It would seem that the elements had taken Clean Up week in charge and intended to do it all. However the ash barrel and the rubbish will have to be carried out by hand.

WILL HAVE A COUNTY AGENT.

It is with a good deal of satisfaction that the majority of the people of Rock county will read of the action of the county agricultural agent abolished by previous action of the board and effective on July 1. While there has been some considerable discussion of the need for such an official many of the objections have been personal, the fact that there is a great work for an agent is apparent and generally conceded. Other counties have found an agent to be almost an indispensable part of the machinery of agricultural betterment and farming activities. The county agent is at hand equipped to settle many questions that arise and is the point of contact between the farmer and the most recent results of investigation by the highest authorities on agricultural matters. There is plenty for a county agent to do and Rock county has done well to avail itself of the services of such an official.

A NATURALIST AT WORK.
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

New York City.—No malicious act today could get away with a species of second order such as rubbery the "Rogue's Gallery". Not unless he were subtle evidence of his finger prints, which are very different from the human finger prints, and which, likely as not, could be quickly traced to the newly-established "rogue's gallery" of some nearby zoo.

This assurance is given by Dr. Raymond L. Dittmars, curator of reptiles of the Bronx Zoological Park, who has recently made a thorough study of monkey hands. Dr. Dittmars was first interested in the subject by the American Museum of Natural History of this city, which wanted some handprints of monkeys to use in its elaborate study of the evolution of man. The Galton Society of Washington, which is also devoted to the study of man's evolution, was likewise anxious for a similar supply.

"My only part in the project was to get the prints," explained Dr. Dittmars, "but as the work progressed I became so much interested that I bought several books on primatology containing great numbers of prints of human hands."

"The curator immediately found that while the general hand prints of monkeys and those of human beings are similar, the monkey hand possessing the life line, heart line, head line and fate line which are to be found in the human hand, a close examination shows striking differences in every instance between the human hand and the monkey hand."

"The human hand in all cases," says he, "has the tips of the fingers and the tip of the thumb marked with lines or ridges, in which the monkey hand on the contrary, invariably has the tips of the fingers marked in straight lines, never in whorls."

"On the monkey hand the whorl-markings are always on the mounts, the soft lumps of flesh at the base of the fingers. In the human hand these mounts are always marked with straight lines, never with whorls."

"No matter how human the monkey's hand may appear at first glance, a print examination always shows this difference, although in the group of monkeys, for instance, the resemblance is otherwise startling."

"The whorls on the tips of the fingers and especially on the thumb are the means whereby experts establish identity. In monkeys the whorls on the mounts could be used for the same purpose. Apparently, there are no two monkeys with the same markings on the mounts of their hands, just as there are no two human beings with whorl markings that are exactly the same on the tips of their thumbs or fingers."

In obtaining the finger prints, Dr. Dittmars had to confine his efforts to the most tractable monkeys, the larger and more savage animals stubbornly holding out against this process of identification. But he succeeded in getting specimens of the ringtails, a tame black ape, a South American monkey, a pigtail cynomolgus monkey, a bonneted macaque, a Mexican macaque and an orang-utan. The principal difficulty lay in keeping the animals quiet so that they would not jump at the psychological moment.

Who's Who Today
SIR ROBERT BORDEN.

On top of the announcement by Premier Meighen of Canada that this country would send a minister to Washington in the near future, comes word that Sir Robert Borden, premier of the dominion, has been asked to accept the new diplomatic post.

Borden has been premier of Canada since 1911. He is by profession a lawyer, having held that position for several years, and was president of the Nova Scotia baristers' society.

In February, 1901, Borden, upon resignation of Sir Thomas Dupper, became leader of the Conservative party in the house of commons.

He was Canada's representative at the several imperial war conferences in 1917 and 1918. The union government was formed by him, October, 1917, and on appeal to the electorate was sustained by a majority of seventy at the general election, December, 1917.

Borden is sixty-seven years old and he resides in Ottawa, Canada.

Personal Health Service

Noted Physician and Author

THE INHALATION FRIEND

Query: Kindly tell me if smoking three or four cigars a day and two pipes of tobacco burns a young man 70 inches tall, weighing about 165 pounds, who looks and feels perfectly well. He drinks only light cigars. He claims it does not hurt him.

A married woman recently wrote for advice on curing the cigarette habit which she had acquired under the notion that it was "smart" to smoke cigarettes. The habit had gained full control of the unfortunate woman, and she could not endure a whole hour without her pipe, which she felt compelled her to sneak away and take. And now she suffers that moral pain which so many dopesters strive to banish with the pipe or drink or whatever it may be. She fears her husband will lose patience with her and cut loose.

She fears that her other relatives may discard her as an unwelcome associate for their children. And she is alarmed, too, because she finds herself compelled to inhale every puff deeply in order to gratify her craving—or her habit of craving. The absorption of drugs like tobacco through the lining of the mouth itself is quite as active and complete as it is through the lining of the lungs. Therefore, inhalation does not increase the effect of tobacco, though it may induce greater irritation of the nose, throat or bronchial surfaces.

The other imaginary distinction, made in the reader's query, though equally common to popular belief, is without foundation. Whether a cigar is light or dark or of repeated "mild" or "heavy" character makes no appreciable difference in the drug effect which the smoker desires. That notion is the notion of "light" and "heavy" wines, not a matter of tincture of the purveyor's or consumer's fancy.

A man who has to have both cigars and pipe is surely up moderate to tobacco user.

A man who has to seek the aid of a drug like tobacco as regularly as he eats, is actually confirmed in his habit—the habit lies deep, and the drug is breaking down that precious thing which makes a man a man, self-control or will-power.

Old geezers past their zenith may have some slight excuse for surrendering to the aid of a drug of the narcotic order, something that helps them to forget the mistakes they have made, and all that sort of thing. But youths have no excuse. The youth who permits such a drug habit to gain control of him is a sorry specimen. There is something lacking. His manhood is not quite up to the test. He can't meet life without Dutch courage. Things are likely to frighten him, and so he resorts to the gentle narcotic tobacco, which, at least, enables him to make a blimp at indifference or preoccupation and so to weather those many moments of embarrassment and chagrin that remind him of his weakness and inefficiency.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Baby Business.

Is it true that teaching may cause a cough? Would the cough be more likely to result from adenoids? At what age should adenoids be removed? (Mrs. S. C.)

ANSWER.—Teaching is a physiological process and cannot cause any illness. Adenoids are a frequent cause of chronic coughing, causing any nose, throat or ear development trouble should be removed as soon as they are discovered, and the condition is not common in children under five years of age. In older children, to wait for an arbitrary time when it is removed is to invite more adenoids, a foolish policy. If the adenoids are causing trouble, one time is as safe as another with regard to surgery, as well as the age of the patient. "Wait the salivary glands."

Kindly state why a 14-karat gold ring sometimes makes the skin under it appear black. (Mrs. S. C.)

ANSWER.—Pure gold (too soft for jewelry) is 1000 fine, or 24-K. 14-K gold contains 10-24ths of other metal in the alloy, such as silver or copper or both. When silver reacts with sulphur a black silver sulphide is formed. That is the cause of the so-called oxidized silver. Reaction of the base metal of the alloy of the ring with sulphur compounds normally present in the perspiration or skin oil produces the black stain.

BERLIN'S HEDGING PROVES FUTILE

Germany Destroys Any Possible Chances of U. S. Mediation.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington.—America will not forward the German proposal on reparations to the allies.

Great Britain and France have already advised the United States government that the German note is unacceptable.

What a terrible chance there was for the United States to act as mediator and bring the Germans and allies into accord has been destroyed by the action of the Germans in publishing the full text of the note.

President Harding and his cabinet are not inclined to regard seriously the German effort to secure American services as a mediator for the reason that full publicity was given the note practically the same time as it was sent to the government and as a consequence upon Germany's plan to draw the United States into the European conflict.

Secretary of State Hughes has called on the ambassadors of the allied powers and asked their views without of course officially committing the United States. The allies have in effect declined to accept the note and Mr. Hughes in turn has not been in the position of offering it to them. The German communication lies on the desk of the secretary of state where it probably will remain indefinitely—nobody being willing to receive it. This means that the American government either will be obliged to not recognize Germany that the allies deem the communication unacceptable or America will simply allow developments abroad to give the Germans their answer.

The upshot of the situation will be a new proposal from Germany or the occupation of the Ruhr valley by French troops and further pressure upon Germany for an acceptance of the allied demands.

Next Negotiations Direct.

Four or five days still remain within which time Germany can make another offer but the probabilities are that if she decides to accept the allied demands the negotiation will be direct and without an intermediary. The feeling in the Washington government indeed the hope, is that the matter will be taken out of America's hands by direct negotiation as that the United States will not be further embarrassed. There is no telling what the Germans are likely to do and the desire to involve America into the negotiation is so strong that they may yet yield to the allied demands by indirect communication through America.

The school of thought here which views the German situation in European affairs is of course displeased with the German maneuver and is hoping that the allies will take matters in their own hands and ignore the German communication to the United States. On the other hand, those who have from the start believed America's moral influence was sufficient to settle the reparation controversy and thus improve the world economic situation look upon the German note as offering a splendid opportunity for leadership of which they are still hoping.

Cabinet Keeps Afloat.

Cabinet discussion Tuesday developed a unanimity of feeling as to America's duty in the circumstances. It was agreed that the United States could not put her stamp of approval on the document even vaguely and that the action taken must be of such a character as not to encourage the Germans in believing the United States has separated herself from her associates in the war. Some cabinet members believe that except for political situations in each of the European countries the German proposal might have been used as a basis for compromise. But the theory here is that Premier Briand is in a perilous position and that if his ministry is overthrown, France will come into the hands of a militaristic regime which will go to the extremes in handling Germany and possibly drive the Germans into the arms of the extremists. Lord George, who has always shown a disposition to be more reasonable with the Germans than the extremists in France, is believed to be lending his moral support at this moment to Premier Briand largely out of a fear of a political collapse in France of the cabinet, the single but weak against unthinking militarism.

Controversy Not Hopeless.

Broadly speaking, the reparation controversy is not as hopeless as it seems. The Germans have come under the allied demands in the latest proposal than ever before even though they attach mischievous and nullifying conditions. Failure of the attempt to draw America to Germany's side is expected to drive the Germans still closer to the allies with a new proposal even though the Ruhr may yet have to be occupied as a means of coercion. This means the Germans realize that the allies are in earnest and are not to be trifled with the earlier will an agreement be secured. The attitude of the allies as expressed to America this week probably will have an important psychological effect on the German tendency to procrastinate.

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, pastor of the Footville Church of Christ, is not denouncing the fact that the auto has interfered with people going to church. He is going to try to make the automobile serve his Footville church, which it is claimed, has the largest congregation of any rural church in Wisconsin.

Sunday the Rev. Smith will preach a sermon on "Motoring Through Life." He will warn members of his congregation to steer clear of the religious troubles, to keep their sparks advanced in making and grade, to keep carbon out of their cylinders and not back-fire.

A testament is to be offered as a prize to the person bringing the most number of people to church in a "divvy." A side is offered to the person bringing the most to church in any kind of an automobile.

The autoists will bring their basket dinners and a picnic will be held at the church after the services. After the picnic the automobiles will be lined up in a convey and a three hours tour will be made around the neighborhood. It is expected of having more than 100 auto loads of people attending.

Voice of the People

Now that the town has been pretty well cleared of worthless dogs would it not be well to get rid of some of the cats. They are killing the birds and driving them away.

Why not do as I believe is done in the west where the birds are protected. See that the cats have a license. The cats don't live long there, they are taken to a place and destroyed. Birds are not the only things that should be protected. Cats kill all plant life, and it will soon be time for these delightful nocturnal concerts and they are certainly destructive to our disposition.

Referee Stops Schlaifer-Lewis Scrap for "Stalling"

Schlaifer Penalized for Failure to K. O. Lewis; Hagen Outpoints Jummati

GAZETTE DECISIONS.

Final Windup—No contest, referee calling bout in tenth. Omaha "Kid" Schlaifer had edge over "Toledo" Johnny Lewis.

Semi-windup—Johnny Hagen, Chicago, shaded Frankie Jummati, Chicago, eight rounds.

Second preliminary—Battling Roberts, Madison, won handily from Jack Bresnahan, Chicago, in six rounds.

Opener—Joe Terry, Fort Atkinson, knocked out Dan Brown, Milwaukee, in third round of a scheduled six round scrap.

Declaring that the fight was a "frame-up" and was marred throughout by "stalling," Referee Joe Steinbauer, Madison, called an abrupt halt to the Schlaifer-Lewis welterweight battle at the Myers theatre here Wednesday night. The action came in the tenth stanza, 30 seconds before the tap of the gong would have ended the 10-round set-to.

Lewis was ready for the haymaker at the time. With a terrific left jab to the jaw, the Kid had sent Johnny sprawling for a count of eight. Any kind of a jolt would have brought sleep to the unfortunate Toledo boy, but Schlaifer contented himself with letting him hang on.

Crowd Wants Fight
It was then that Steinbauer pulled Lewis away and stopped the fight. With the crowd packed to the house to the eaves yelling madly for the bout to go on, Steinbauer called for silence, stepped to the ropes and shouted:

"I know this man Schlaifer can fight better than he has tonight. When Lewis got up, he didn't try to put him out. You people have paid your good money to see these men fight and I am not going to let them put it over."

The trouble came after a while of a scrap between Johnny Hagen and Frankie Jummati, both Chicago paperweights, in which Hagen got a narrow margin of a shade over his fellow townsman. In the eight rounds, the crowd was yanked to its feet many times with hysterical cheers as a great exhibition of the science and the punching of the fist game were intermixed.

Goes to Commission
The Bernstein, manager of Schlaifer, did not get any dough Wednesday night. The argument will go before the state boxing commission where Steinbauer declares he will carry in an effort to keep the game clean. A decision will be rendered Saturday, it is expected. Art Winch, Lewis' manager, was paid Wednesday night.

Kid Talked to Lewis
After the noise of the fight, the men were "framed," and that furthermore Bernstein had told him that he had been feeding "dope" to a small crowd of fans who were in the fight to keep him going because he had only arisen from a sickbed the day before.

Three times during the fight when Schlaifer had his head on Lewis' chest, he heard him tell Lewis: "Take it easy now. Slow up." After Lewis went down for the eighth count in the tenth, if he had come up with his hands to his sides, I would have stopped the fight there, but he put up his hands showing he had some life left and let them go. Schlaifer did not fight like he did against Myers here. The feeding of "dope" to Schlaifer was another infraction of the rules.

Avoid of Murder
Bernstein has another story to tell. He sat in the Gazette office for three quarters of an hour after the fight telling his side of the case. His strong argument was that Schlaifer held off as a matter of precaution fearing that if he landed any kind of a blow on Lewis after the groggy sledgehammer, he might have killed him. He cited instances where this had occurred.

"What advantages would it have been to me to frame that battle," he said. "Schlaifer is after the knockout and wants to add to his list of 42 of them. He was a sick boy and I gave him aromatic spirits of ammonia with sugar to keep him going. He had a cough Tuesday and Wednesday. I sent him on ahead of me to Janesville, his doctor told me he should not have gone. That he passed the physical test Wednesday afternoon does not mean anything."

Quarried by Bernstein as to what decision was to be made on the fight, Steinbauer said that he had no power to make any but if he did, he would personally award the scrap to Lewis. Back in the sixth round and again in the eighth, Schlaifer floored Lewis for an instant. Steinbauer says he believes the Omaha Kid could have put the finishing touches on him in either place.

Other than the mess, the scrap seemed to satisfy the fans. While Lewis got only one round, the seventh, he kept Schlaifer working hard. However, he was constantly getting heart jabs from the Kid, who got all the other rounds but the first, second, third and fifth which were even.

Crowd Cheers Papers
When it comes to the Hagen-Jummati fight, there is pleasure in looking back upon it. The boys cheer their way deeply into the hearts of the fans, Hagen being declared a hero with long cheers. He made a great return for his defeat here recently at the hands of Sammy Mandell.

Jummati Plays for Eye
While Hagen's wicked left was able to land more times to Jummati's jaw and midsection than Frankie's lefts, and the scrappers constantly parried in blood raising exchanges close in, there were times

LEGION-ALL STAR TITLE BASKETBALL GAME ON THURSDAY

If prior judgment of the spirit of basketball players is anything, the city championship game Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the high school is going to be a whirlwind. Players on both the All-Stars and the challenging American Legion are frothing at the mouth to get at each other.

Despite the fact that the ex-service men are a little heavier than the younger stars, the handicap is overcome by indications of a little more speed held by the Stars. With the training obtained in getting fourth place in the Central Amateur athletic tournament at Chicago, they even up the longer experience of the Legionnaires.

The interest in the battle piles up. Plans are being made to handle a capacity crowd.

PIRATES TO COP NATIONAL FLAG SAYS MORRISSEY

Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey is looking for Pittsburgh to cop the pennant in the National League this year. White making no predictions about the outcome of the American league race, he is hoping Washington will come out on top.

"Griffith is one of the best friends I have," said the chief. "He has worked hard with Washington and I'd like to see his team win."

"Pittsburgh should top the list in the National this year because it has a team of seasoned players who have played together a couple of years. Most of them are young but have just enough experience to make them valuable."

COMEDY, WIT
FEATURED SCRAPS

"Night spectators who had stage seats were treated to a rare bit of comedy and human concentration. It is doubtful which stage fans watched the most, the boxing or the side line comedy over on the other side of the ring."

One spectator who wore glasses and works at the Samson became so engrossed, he was head-slipping himself every blow that the two boxers exchanged. His head bobbed back and forth faster than a cork being pulled by a husky pike.

On top of that the spectator leaned forward until his face was almost touching the ropes, despite the glasses, and every move made by the fighters, he duplicated with a facial expression, head-bob or body twist.

Over in the other corner the fans had near comedy from the remarks of the Bernstein. He persisted in telling the world his fighter Jack Brennan was not in condition.

The mind of a fight fan is a queer thing. One minute he yells for a sporadic punch with blood and in another breath he "rides" a boxer for landing that punch and leaving a man helpless.
